INTRODUCTION

We all know that today, not only in Uzbekistan, but also in many other places, the number of women and their place in the country is growing. In addition, the role of women today and the number of women in the parliament of our country has risen to 37th place among 190 parliaments in the world. In addition, in the last four years, to achieve equal rights and opportunities for women and men, to ensure their equal participation in the management of public and state affairs, to provide social and legal support to women, as well as large-scale reforms to protect women from oppression and violence. [1] On December 14, 2020, Tashkent hosted the first forum on "The role of women in parliament in the development of Uzbekistan." The event was organized by the Senate of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the Commission on Gender Equality in cooperation with the United Nations Development Program and the OSCE. The forum was attended by members of the Senate and the Legislative Chamber, deputies of local councils, members of the Youth Parliament, officials of government agencies and public organizations, representatives of international organizations and the media. The event was attended by the Chairman of the Senate of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan Tanzila Narbaeva.

It was noted that the full participation of women in solving political and socio-economic problems is a prerequisite for economic development, democratic development and stability in society.

Important decisions made with the participation of women will ensure the success of reforms to democratize society. In this regard, ensuring the rights and interests of women in our country, their full support is an important area of public policy.

DISCUSSION AND RESULTS

As a result of practical work, 48 women were elected to the lower house of parliament following last year's elections. This is 32 percent of the total number of deputies, and 25 percent in the Senate. For the first time in the history of Uzbekistan, the number of women in the national parliament has reached the level recommended by the UN. It was noted that the country's parliament has risen to 37th place among 190 parliaments in the world in terms of the number of women. [2]. It should be noted that the issue of gender equality is becoming more and more important. Such a situation is coming from Europe to the east. According to researchers, the role of women in the society and society of many Europeans is very important. They say that women have a role to play, not only in society, but also at the top. They believe that women are responsible, attentive to their work, and on time, and that they are active not only at work but also at home. In addition, to highlight the role of women in the development of society. In particular, to ensure the implementation of laws aimed at protecting motherhood and childhood, and to increase the active participation of self-sacrificing, high-potential, inquisitive, knowledgeable and professional women in public life, to protect women's legal, social and cultural interests. to think about how to take measures to remove obstacles. There is also a need to focus on issues such as women's employment, work and leisure.

Preparation of girls for family life, as well as the organization of cultural events, conferences and forums, seminars, meetings, competitions, exhibitions and sports events aimed at educating young people. [3] Gender equality Equality between men and women is the concept of equality between men and women in the family and other legal relationships. According to some researchers, gender equality is the next stage of social and sexual relations after the patriarchal system. Uzbekistan has been participating in the Gender Equality Index since 2019. As of 2019, Uzbekistan's Gender Equality Index ranks 62nd out of 189 countries on the list. According to experts from the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), 29 out of every 100,000 women in Uzbekistan die due to gender inequality, and the birth rate is 23.8 per 1,000 adolescent girls aged 15-19. Also, on September 2, 2019, the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan No. 562 "On guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men" was adopted in Uzbekistan. [4] The Gender Equality Commission has been operating in Uzbekistan since 2019. The Chairman of the Senate of the Oliy Majlis, Tanzila Narbaeva, is the Chairman of the Commission on Gender Equality of the Republic of Uzbekistan. [5] Issues like this are now becoming a pressing issue.

CONCLUSION

We all know that a number of decisions and laws have been enacted to address the role of women in today's developing Uzbekistan and their importance. Now women are not only active in the family, but are also gaining a foothold in society.
